

INTERVIEW SERIES WITH ALUMNI OF 'LOOK EAST POLICY'

Muna Maryam Binti Azmy

Tell us about your study in Japan

I was recommended by Universiti Utara Malaysia (UUM) to further my PhD study at Tokyo Metropolitan University (TMU). I received the Tokyo Metropolitan Government Scholarship to pursue my study for three years.

What surprised you in Japan

How well structured the development was, with friendly neighbourhood and clean environment.

Look East Policy & you

The policy allows Malaysians to learn and adapt to Japanese culture that reflects high level of thinking and management. I certainly learned a lot from my experience in Japan especially in the field in terms of Tourism, Arts and Culture for global community.

Your favourite:

Person

Yuka Hasegawa (My friend who is also former executive for Students Affair Department in TMU).

Place

Hokkaido.

Food

Ramen (Near Shinjuku Gyoen).

Custom

Kimono wearing and tea ceremony.

Future of Malaysia & Japan

Hoping that the Government of Malaysia will continuously maintain the diplomatic ties with Japan to improve the economy, social and environment of Malaysia since there are still so much to learn from Japan. Malaysia can also help to introduce our own culture and values to Japan for knowledge and unity enrichment.

Additional

Looking forward to join more events under Japan and Malaysia collaborations.

Latest with research team from Japan at Perlis.
